

KATHLEEN: I know this is probably a little late to be asking but...are you married?

JOE: Am I married? What kind of question is that? How can you ask me that? Don't you know me at all? Oh, wait, I get it. Your friends are telling you the reason we haven't met is that I'm married. Am I right? ... So he didn't answer the question.

KATHLEEN: Yes, he did.

JOE: He did not.

KATHLEEN: He did too. He did ex... He nailed me. He knew exactly what I was after, which is just, by the way, exactly like him.

JOE: He did not answer the question, did he?

KATHLEEN: No.

JOE: Maybe...he's fat. He's fat. He's a fatty.

KATHLEEN: I don't care about that.

JOE: You don't care that he's so fat...he's one of these guys that has to be removed from his house by a crane...You don't care.

KATHLEEN: That is very unlikely.