

Gallery of NTU History Fund

At one corner of the campus stands a building representing the soul of NTU – the Gallery of NTU History (NTU’s Old Main Library). It houses elegant, antique style reading rooms where students would read under warm lamplights and deep into the night, becoming the birthplace of NTU’s many scholarly works.

In the hopes of having a versatile, multifunctional gallery, cultural relics and historical records from the administrative system, every college, and different forms of sources (alumni testimonials, etc.) must first be collected and organized, then analyzed and designed into representative themes to be displayed. This project will help visitors of NTU better understand its historical progress and educational philosophy. Meanwhile, alumni can look back fondly at their times as students, join together for their Alma Mater, and wholeheartedly offer their support for her.
